Psalm 34

From your pastor . . .

I would like to encourage the fathers and sons of our parish to make plans to attend the annual Father/Son banquet that will be celebrated on Wednesday, September 8th at the Phoenix Center beginning at 6:00 p.m. Last year was cancelled because of COVID-19, so it will be good to resume this wonderful event that is sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. Elsewhere in the bulletin is an announcement that gives details and contacts for buying a ticket. It is important to buy your ticket in advance so that the food can be properly ordered and prepared.

A number of people have inquired about Cardinal Raymond L. Burke's health. As of today (Tuesday, August 17th) he is hospitalized in Rochester at the Mayo Clinic with COVID-19. The situation is quite severe in that he is using a respirator for his breathing. By the time you read this, I suspect his condition will have changed, and we pray that the change is for the better. He has asked for our prayers.

Below, I will continue with the teaching that has been ongoing over the past weeks concerning the Church's response to the issue of racism. The document that I am reproducing in italic type is from the United States Conference of Catholic Bishops, entitled, "Open Wider Our Hearts: The Enduring Call to Love – A Pastoral Letter Against Racism."

"A change of heart," the Pontifical Commission on Justice and Peace points out, "cannot occur without strengthening spiritual convictions regarding respect for other races and ethnic groups."(38) We must, therefore, form the consciences of our people, especially the young, "by clearly presenting the entire Christian doctrine on this subject. [We] particularly [ask] pastors, preachers, teachers and catechists to explain the true teaching of Scripture and Tradition about the origin of all people in God, their final common destiny in the Kingdom of God, the value of the precept of fraternal love, and the total incompatibility between racist exclusivism and the universal calling of all to the same salvation in Jesus Christ."(39)

Here we call on our religious education programs, Catholic schools, and Catholic publishing companies to develop curricula relating to racism and reconciliation. Our campus ministers should plan young adult reflections and discussions that strive to build pathways toward racial equality and healing. We can also learn from the example of those young people who rise above racist attitudes and model respect. We also charge our seminaries, deacon formation programs, houses of formation, and all our educational institutions to break any silence around the issue of racism, to find new and creative ways to raise awareness, analyze curricula, and to teach the virtues of fraternal charity.

Our individual efforts to encounter, grow, and witness, to change our hearts about racism, must also find their way into our families. We urge each person to consider the dignity of others in the face of jokes, conversations, and complaints motivated by racial prejudice. We can provide experiences for children that expose them to different cultures and peoples. We can also draw upon the incredible diversity of the Church worldwide in providing education within the family and make it clear that God swells in the equal dignity of each person. We ask all the faithful to consider ways in which they and their families can encounter, grow, and witness through an understanding and commitment to these values today. In turn, we pledge to provide tools and resources to facilitate those efforts.
